SPARINVEST SICAV

Report of the Board of Directors of the Company

The Chairman's Report

In 2023, financial markets were primarily driven by the inflation development, central banks' fight against inflation and by market hopes for early interest rate cuts. The U.S. economy did not go into recession as feared, which supported positive market trends.

Declining inflation through 2023

Inflation moderated in the U.S. and Europe during 2023, mainly driven by lower energy and food prices compared to a year earlier.

Inflation in the U.S. fell from 6.5% in early 2023 to 3.4% at the end of the year, while inflation in the EU was reduced from 9.2% to 2.9% during 2023.

Core inflation has also shown a downward trend since spring 2023. This was largely attributable to the phasing out of the inflationary effects of the COVID-19 Pandemic on supply chains and goods prices. By contrast, service inflation in the U.S. and Europe was more sluggish, reflecting job markets, which in many countries were characterised by employment close to or above capacity.

At the end of 2023, core inflation stood at 3.9% in the U.S. and 3.4% in the EU, well above central banks' inflation targets.

Across our various asset classes, 2023 presented a diverse return landscape. Relatively speaking, only five out of the 16 Sparinvest Sub-Funds outperformed the market during this period. Our value Sub-Funds faced significant challenges as they lacked exposure to the "Magnificent Seven" tech-related companies, namely Alphabet, Amazon, Apple, Meta, Microsoft, Nvidia, and Tesla, which collectively contributed to nearly half of the MSCI World returns.

In 2023, positive trends characterized the market for emerging market bonds. This was mainly driven by the stabilization of long-term U.S. treasury yields, but also the reduction in credit spreads for various emerging market countries. Furthermore, the decline in inflation rates in many of these countries contributed to stability in local markets, easing the pressure for additional interest rate hikes.

Notable shifts occurred in the Danish stock market, notably propelled by Novo Nordisk, whose stocks rose by approximately 50% in 2023 due to the success of their obesity medication. Furthermore, significant increases in stock prices were witnessed for Pandora, Zealand Pharma, and Demant.

The Danish mortgage bond market was influenced by declining interest rates, particularly in the fourth quarter, leading to the Sub-Fund SPARINVEST SICAV - LONG DANISH BONDS surpassing its benchmark.

For more detailed information on the performance of the individual Sub-Funds, please see the Report of the Investment Manager, which follows.

Net subscriptions and redemptions

Net subscriptions/redemptions for the year stood at an aggregate inflow, amounting to EUR 135.3m, where SPARINVEST SICAV - ETHICAL GLOBAL VALUE recorded a net outflow of EUR 174.6m and SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL VALUE a net outflow of EUR 117.9m. Conversely, great inflows were recorded in SPARINVEST SICAV - PROCEDO, amounting to EUR 223.0m.

The Economic Landscape in 2023

Central banks' fight against inflation

To fight inflation and curb inflation expectations, the leading central banks continued to tighten monetary policy, which was initiated in 2022.

The U.S. Federal Reserve began raising its key policy rate in mid-March 2022 and raised it at almost every meeting through the end of July 2023. After that, the central bank decided to pause to see the effect of the measures. Thus, the Federal Reserve has raised its key policy rate by 5.25pp from a level at 0-0.25% to 5.25-5.50% in 17 months, which is a historic, sharp increase.

The sharp rise in interest rates led to large unrealised capital losses on bonds in several regional banks in the U.S. In March, a bank run occurred at Silicon Valley Bank. The bank collapsed and had to be taken over by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The same happened with Signature Bank also in March and First Republic Bank in May. To ensure financial stability, the Federal Reserve introduced the so-called Bank Term Funding Program, which secured liquidity in the banking sector.

The European Central Bank (ECB) similarly tightened monetary policy, only a bit later relative to the Federal Reserve. In addition to halting the bond reinvestment programmes, the ECB raised interest rates at every meeting since July 2022 until its September 2023 meeting. The ECB has raised deposit rates by 4.50pp from -0.50% to 4.0% in just over a year.

In November 2023, the U.S. Federal Reserve began to change their wording. The central bank now signalled that the effects on the economy of the implemented monetary policy tightening were materialising. The central bank also signalled that there could be three rate cuts in 2024. The market reacted very positively to these signals at end-2023.

Continued decent economic activity in the U.S., but ...

The monetary tightening affected the economies of OECD countries differently in 2023.

The U.S. economy proved surprisingly resilient to the Federal Reserve's significant interest rate hikes. The feared recession did not materialise, as consumption increased when private consumers used the savings surplus accumulated during the COVID-19 Pandemic. At the same time, the expansionary fiscal policy compensated for the tight monetary policy. The effect was that the U.S. economy experienced an economic upswing in 2023 with record low unemployment and full employment.

In the eurozone, economic growth dropped significantly. Especially the German economy was hit and saw periods with negative growth. In Denmark, growth was also subdued, but employment was record high, and both the government budget and the current account showed large surpluses.

In 2023, China continued to struggle due to structural problems in the construction sector. After many years of expansion, the economy is left with a housing market characterised by extensive overcapacity. In 2023, the Chinese authorities implemented a wide range of measures to boost credit growth and support the housing sector. These measures succeeded in stabilising the Chinese economy in 2023, but problems continue to smoulder among debt-ridden property companies and so-called shadow banks. At the beginning of 2024, the Chinese financial conglomerate Zhongzhi went bankrupt leaving a debt of around DKK 435 billion, and more bankruptcies are anticipated in the coming year.

Geopolitical tensions

The economic climate was affected by several geopolitical tensions in 2023, without, however, having a significant impact on financial markets.

The war in Ukraine continued for the second year in 2023, with both sides engaged in gruelling trench warfare with heavy casualties to both nations. As in the beginning, the war did not have a noticeable impact on financial markets, but is expected to have long-term geopolitical and economic consequences.

China seeks to challenge the West and especially the U.S. by for instance exploiting the situation in Ukraine. With support for Russia and diplomatic efforts to forge alliances in Asia, the Middle East, Africa, South America, China is working to prevent Western sanctions against Russia from being effective. Next, China has intensified military threats against Taiwan, which could become critical for the West due to the large production of microchips on the island. The military measures were followed by trade measures on both sides with export bans of critical goods and semi-finished products. As a result of these tensions, foreign direct investment in China declined sharply in 2023.

Global uncertainty was further heightened in 2023 when Hamas launched a surprise attack from Gaza into Israel on October 7. Israel responded with military force. The continued fighting increases the risk that the conflict could spark a major war in the Middle East which could impact energy prices.

Towards the end of 2023, sailing through the Red Sea to the Suez Canal was hampered by rocket attacks by the Houthis, which operate from Yemen. The attacks and ship hijackings led to a shift in shipping routes from the East to Europe south of Africa and have only had a limited effect on freight rates.

Financial Market Trends in 2023

Large fluctuations in government bond yields

The government bond yields fluctuated significantly in the U.S. and European markets through 2023. However, depending on the maturity of the bonds, yields declined slightly overall or remained unchanged over the full year 2023.

Central banks' monetary policy tightening broadly matched expectations at the start of the year until mid-March, when the U.S. was hit by two major bank failures. Short-term market interest rates had risen sharply in the period before that, but market expectations for monetary policy changed significantly as uncertainty about the stability of the financial system emerged.

The market began to price in reductions in policy rates in the following period, resulting in falling market interest rates. After the Federal Reserve introduced a programme to secure liquidity in the U.S. banking sector, central banks continued their monetary policy tightening. The rhetoric intensified over the summer to "higher-for-longer", which in the period up to mid-October put strong upward pressure on market interest rates.

Declining inflation, combined with an announcement from the U.S. Federal Reserve that interest rate cuts were now being discussed, led to interest rate dives for the remainder of Q4, so interest rates ended 2023 at lower levels, except for the shortest duration issues.

10-year U.S. government bond yields started the year at around 3.9%, the same as at end-2023. In mid-October, however, 10-year U.S. government bond yields were close to 5%. Long-dated German government bonds showed a similar trend, with 10-year yields starting the year at around 2.5% but rising to almost 3% in early October before falling to 2.0% at the end of 2023.

2-year U.S. government bond yields rose 0.6 percentage points in H1 from 4.3% to 4.9% ending the year at 4.3% and having peaked at 5.2% in mid-October. 2-year German government bond yields also rose by 0.6 percentage points from 2.6% to 3.2% through the first half of the year. 2-year German yields peaked in mid-July at 3.4% before ending the year lower at 2.4%.

In the Danish bond market, 2-year government bond yields rose by 0.6 percentage points from 2.7% to 3.3% over the first half of the year. Interest rates peaked at the end of September at 3.8% before ending 2023 at 2.4%. 10-year government bond yields were unchanged at around 2.7% in the first half of the year, but then rose to 3.2% in October to end the year at 2.3%.

Danish government bond yields therefore developed positively in 2023. Measured by the Nordea GCM 7Y index, long-dated Danish government bonds yielded a return of 5.9%, while short-dated Danish government bonds yielded 3.4% in 2023, measured by Nordea GCM 2Y.

Positive returns on Danish mortgage bonds

In 2023, the market for Danish mortgage bonds was driven by the falling interest rates, especially in Q4. Secondly, the mortgage market benefited from falling credit spreads, but lower volatility also had a positive impact on callable mortgage bonds with high coupon rates.

The market for callable mortgage bonds developed in two directions in 2023 depending on the coupon rate.

Over the year, foreign investors continued to reduce positions in Danish low-coupon callable bonds, while buybacks from borrowers declined compared to 2022. As a result, long-term callable bond yields did not fall as much as the yields of comparable government bonds. On the other hand, callable bonds with high coupon rates were in high demand, and as borrowers at the same time sought short-term funding, the limited issuance meant that these bonds performed better than comparable non-callable bonds.

With higher current interest rates and credit spread tightening, mortgage bonds achieved returns that exceeded those of equivalent government bonds in 2023. Measured by Nordea CM 7Y, long-dated callable mortgage bonds yielded a return of 7.8% in 2023.

Solid corporate bond performance

Corporate bonds developed favourably in 2023. The driving force behind this was high current interest rates combined with a tightening of credit spreads against government bonds.

The favourable development was due to an expectation that central banks were in control of inflation and that a reversal in central bank monetary policy was imminent, while at the same time the economy avoided recession. This increased risk appetite in the market. The positive development occurred despite increasing debt defaults, especially in the high-yield segment.

Global investment grade bonds, measured by the ICE BofA Corporate Index and hedged to DKK, yielded a return of 6.0%, while global high-yield bonds, also hedged to DKK, yielded a return of 10.0% in 2023.

Positive year for emerging markets bonds

In 2023, the market for emerging markets bonds was positively impacted by a stabilisation in U.S. long-term government bond yields and by a tightening of credit spreads for several emerging market countries. In addition, falling inflation in many emerging market countries calmed local markets as the pressure for further interest rate hikes eased.

The declining credit spreads occurred primarily in countries with the lowest credit ratings. Thus, bonds issued by countries such as El Salvador, Venezuela, Argentina, Ukraine, Sri Lanka, Zambia, and Pakistan yielded the highest returns in the asset class of between 30% and 150% in 2023. The reason for these returns was either clarification in the restructuring of countries' debt or the avoidance of restructuring. In addition, the performance of Venezuelan government bonds was positively affected by the lifting by the U.S. of several sanctions against Venezuela, including the ban on trading in the country's government bonds.

The asset class in 2023 was positively impacted by a series of presidential elections. In Turkey, President Erdogan was re-elected. After securing a second term, he appointed a new economic team mandated to implement a traditional economic policy involving steep interest rate hikes to reduce the country's high inflation. In Nigeria, President-elect Tinubu implemented a series of fiscal and monetary policy reforms, which were well received by the market. In addition, Javier Milei won the presidential elections in Argentina towards the end of the year. He had gone to the polls on a sweeping reform of the country's political and economic structures, including the imbalance in government finances. During the election period, Argentine bonds increased by about 50%.

The consequence of the above was that the market for emerging market bonds denominated in USD measured by the JP Morgan EMBI Global Diversified index hedged to DKK increased by 8.1% in 2023. On the other hand, emerging market bonds denominated in local currency measured by the JP Morgan GBI-EM Global Diversified index translated into Danish kroner increased by 9.2%.

Strong year for global equities

Overall, global equity markets surged in 2023 on expectations of significant interest rate cuts in 2024. The positive performance by global equity markets in 2023 was not rooted in earnings growth, but on an increase in the multiples that the market was willing to pay for the companies' earnings.

The world market index increased by 18.9 % in terms of the MSCI AC World index in Danish kroner in 2023. The gain could have been larger, but was curbed by a weakening of the USD against the DKK of more than 3% in 2023.

The development in the world market index concealed large differences between regions, with the U.S. equity market as top performer, while equity markets in emerging markets lagged in 2023. MSCI USA, MSCI Europe, MSCI Japan and MSCI Emerging Markets yielded returns of 23.1%, 16.9%, 17.0% and 6.4%, respectively, in 2023. The reason for the low returns in emerging markets was the negative development in the Chinese equity market in 2023.

The market development in the U.S. and globally in 2023 was dominated by the large U.S. technology companies, which after plummeting share prices in 2022 took revenge in 2023. The "Magnificent Seven" companies rose more than 100%, while the rest of the U.S. equity market rose more moderately. Market expectations that interest rate hikes were reaching a peak combined with the hype about AI caused the stocks of the big tech companies to be in keen demand in 2023.

The performance of the large tech companies led to large differences in returns at sector level. The IT and Communication Services sectors achieved positive returns of 46.7% and 33.8%, respectively, while Energy only increased by 2.6% in 2023.

During 2023, the investment styles performed differently. The rising prices of the major technology stocks had a significant positive impact on the growth stock index, with the MSCI World AC Growth index rising by 29.3%. By contrast, value stocks in terms of the MSCI World AC Value index only rose by 9.1% in 2023. For the MSCI World Quality Index and the MSCI World Low Volatility Index, the corresponding returns were 28.8% and 4.4%.

Positive returns on Danish equities

Danish equities developed positively in 2023. However, the Danish equity market showed large price fluctuations over the year. Danish equities, in terms of the OMXCCap GI index, rose 6.4% in 2023.

The large Danish equities in terms of the OMXC25 index rose by 7.1%, while the medium-sized and smaller companies in terms of the OMX Copenhagen ex. OMXC20 index yielded a return of 6.2% in 2023.

The Danish market was largely characterised by changing expectations for the development of policy rates and inflation, where the markets' assumption that the central banks would soon finish their interest rate hikes was dominant. This meant that the Danish market, with a predominance of companies with defensive profiles, was less in demand by international investors and therefore did not gain as much as other markets internationally.

The Danish equity market development was dominated by Novo Nordisk because of its successful anti-obesity drug. However, Pandora, Zealand Pharma and Demant also contributed with strong price increases, just as Danske Bank developed favourably in 2023.

However, many companies in the Danish equity market saw downward stock prices in 2023. Ørsted was hit hard with a price drop of more than 40%. High interest rates and rising wind farm development costs resulted in large depreciation charges on shelved projects, just as the earnings outlook suffered a blow despite a continued great need for green transition in the energy sector.

SPARINVEST SICAV Sub-Funds' returns

Against the economic and market background described above, we have seen the following returns from the equity Sub-Funds in SPARINVEST SICAV:

EQUITIES

2023 Full-Year Sub-Fund Name	Return*	Benchmark	Difference
SPARINVEST SICAV - EQUITAS	12.70%	18.06%	-5.36%
SPARINVEST SICAV - ETHICAL GLOBAL VALUE	7.93%	19.60%	-11.66%
SPARINVEST SICAV - EUROPEAN VALUE	13.42%	15.83%	-2.41%
SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL VALUE	8.78%	19.60%	-10.81%

*Sub-Fund return is shown for the EUR R share class, net of fees and excluding swing

The returns of Sub-Funds are reviewed below.

SPARINVEST SICAV - EQUITAS delivered a return of 12.70% net of fees and 14.38% gross of fees for the year 2023, while the benchmark returned 18.06%. The fund is created from building blocks carved out from primarily Sparinvest actively managed equity strategies. Global central banks continued monetary tightening in 2023, leading to the strongest tightening cycle in the U.S. in about 40 years. Surging interest rates caused significant losses in long-term government bonds, with 30-year U.S. bonds losing 42% of their value by the beginning of 2023 and reaching a 52% loss by September. The monetary tightening affected OECD economies differently in 2023, with the Eurozone experiencing a sharp economic contraction, particularly in Germany. Conversely, the U.S. witnessed an economic recovery driven by household spending and expansive fiscal policies, resulting in a substantial budget deficit of nearly 8.5% of GDP in the second quarter of 2023. Equity in general had a strong year with the funds benchmark given by MSCI ACWI gave a return of 18.1% denominated in euros. The relative performance was primarily driven by a general underweight in the actively managed pools of the AI theme, encompassing the seven largest companies in the equity benchmark. These seven companies significantly influenced the positive trajectory of the global stock market return in 2023. Additionally, allocation to Danish equities has had a negative impact despite an exceptionally strong relative performance in the Danish equity pool.

SPARINVEST SICAV - ETHICAL GLOBAL VALUE rose by 7.93% net of fees and 9.98% gross of fees, while the benchmark, MSCI World, was up 19.60%. Despite inflation worries, recession fears and a U.S. regional banking crisis in the beginning of the year, global equities performed well as the year progressed, with easing inflation and a resilient global economy leading to increased expectations of an end to interest rate hikes. In early summer, markets benefitted from a rally driven by a boom in tech-focused AI related companies, while from September towards year-end most stocks rose, with optimism driven by falling bond yields and the prospect of interest rate cuts. The breakdown of winners and losers was very different from the year before. Sectors such as IT and Communication Services were the best performing sectors, and this sector performance fed into style performance, leading growth stocks to outpace their value counterparts. Consequently, the MSCI World Value Index only gained 7.74%, and the Sub-Fund suffered from its inherent value style combined with the fact that it did not have exposure to any of the Magnificent Seven companies that accounted for almost half of the MSCI World returns.

SPARINVEST SICAV - EUROPEAN VALUE delivered positive returns of 13.42% net of fees and 15.58% gross of fees, while the benchmark, MSCI Europe, generated a return of 15.83%. European equities lagged their U.S. peers, due to the relatively weaker European economy and less exposure to the AI theme that helped lift U.S. markets. However, it was the rate-sensitive and AI-exposed IT sector that saw the biggest gains of more than 30%, while the more defensive Consumer Staples sector barely ended the year in positive. There was no direct link between economic growth and equity market performance as evidenced by Germany, where the stock market was up around 20% despite a gloomy economic picture. The MSCI Europe Value Index trailed the wider market in the first half of the year, but it ended up roughly in line with MSCI Europe. The Sub-Fund's small cap exposure was once again a detractor to performance as European small caps underperformed their larger counterparts, as they reacted more to the slower growing economy. Together with a minor negative impact from stock selection this led to a slight underperformance against the Sub-Fund's benchmark, MSCI Europe.

SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL VALUE returned 8.78% net of fees and 10.85% gross of fees, while the benchmark, MSCI World, returned 19.60% and defied pronounced early-year scepticism. The primary theme of the year was the change in narrative among market participants from rising inflation and recession fears in the beginning of the year, to a successful taming of inflation without causing a recession at the end of the year. However, it was a bumpy ride with a broad market setback in March, when Silicon Valley Bank collapsed, followed by a period during the summer where enthusiasm over AI boosted tech related stocks seemed to offset the pressure on equities from rising interest rates. Despite geopolitics casting shadows over the markets in Q4, the rally that began in November was supported further in December as Jerome Powell gave hope that interest rates had peaked. Most of the year was characterised by a narrow market performance where a large handful of U.S. tech related stocks, the so-called Magnificent Seven, accounted for almost half of the MSCI World returns. These stocks impacted geographic, sector and style returns, and with no exposure to the seven stocks, the MSCI World Value Index only gained 7.74%. The Sub-Fund suffered from the same lack of exposure to those tech-related giants but managed to outperform the Value Index.

FIXED INCOME - CREDIT BONDS

2023 Full-Year Sub-Fund Name	Return*	Benchmark	Difference
SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL ETHICAL HIGH YIELD	9.64%	10.34%	-0.71%
SPARINVEST SICAV - EMERGING MARKETS BONDS	1.20%	1.75%	-0.55%
SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL INVESTMENT GRADE	7.24%	6.36%	+0.88%
SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL SHORT DATED HIGH YIELD	9.27%	9.04%	+0.23%

*Sub-Fund performance is shown for the EUR R share class, net of fees and excluding swing

SPARINVEST SICAV - EMERGING MARKETS BONDS was closed on 6th September 2023

SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL ETHICAL HIGH YIELD provided a return of 9.64% net of fees and 11.12% gross of fees. Against the benchmark return of 10.34%, the result was, relatively speaking, slightly below expectations. The Sub-Fund was positioned with a higher credit spread and lower duration compared to the benchmark going into the year and remained so throughout the year, which generated outperformance for the first three quarters of the year with a partial reversal in the last quarter. Performance was driven by good selection in eight out of 11 sectors while allocation between the sectors pulled down. The best sectors relative to the benchmark were Financials, Materials and Consumer Staples. Additionally, the underweight in Real Estate contributed positively to performance. Conversely, underweights in Consumer Discretionary and Communications led to relative losses, partially offsetting the overall performance. This has resulted in positive gross excess return for the fund, however, not enough to cover fees.

SPARINVEST SICAV - EMERGING MARKETS BONDS, which was closed on the 6th of September, generated a return of 1.20% net of fees and 2.10% gross of fees. The benchmark returned 1.75%. The result was, relatively speaking, in line with expectations. It was a year where the lowest rated credit segment staged a comeback from prior years poor returns. The CCC segment delivered the best returns in 2023. It was the segment that suffered the most under the conditions from the Pandemic, tightening of the financial conditions, increasing energy and food prices following Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL INVESTMENT GRADE returned 7.24 % net of fees and 8.18% gross of fees, while the benchmark returned 6.36%. The main theme was a concern for lower economic growth potentially leading to a recession. Inflation subsided and central banks indicated easing monetary policy going into 2024. Corporates saw declining demand and lower revenues, but balances were in general strong. Credit spreads tightened and yield declined resulting in positive return. During the year, the Sub-Fund has been managed with an overweight into euro denominated debt. With yield declining relatively more in euro debt than USD debt this resulted in positive excess return. Looking ahead to 2024, we are cautiously optimistic. The falling interest rates give a big boost to the refinancing of debt by households, companies, and governments. At the start of 2024, the effective interest rate is at a relatively high level. The level provides a good cushion against movements in interest rate and credit spreads.

SPARINVEST SICAV - GLOBAL SHORT DATED HIGH YIELD generated a return of 9.27% net of fees and 10.26% gross of fees. Against the benchmark return of 9.04%, the result was, relatively speaking, slightly above expectations. The Sub-Fund was positioned with a higher credit spread and lower duration compared to the benchmark going into the year and remained so throughout the year, which generated outperformance for the first three quarters of the year with a partial reversal in the last quarter. Performance was driven by good selection in seven out of 11 sectors while allocation between the sectors pulled down. The best sectors relative to the benchmark were Financials, Materials and Consumer Staples. Conversely, underweights in Consumer Discretionary and Communications led to relative losses, partially offsetting the overall performance. This has resulted in positive gross and net excess return for the fund.

FIXED INCOME - LONG DANISH BONDS

2023 Full-Year Sub-Fund Name	Return*	Benchmark	Difference
SPARINVEST SICAV - LONG DANISH BONDS	6.74%	5.37%	1.37%

*Sub-Fund performance is shown for the EUR R share class, net of fees and excluding swing

The return for the Sub-Fund SPARINVEST SICAV - LONG DANISH BONDS of 6.74% net of fees and 7.22% gross of fees was satisfying. The major central banks kept tightening monetary policy during the first half of the year echoing a stance of “higher for longer”, causing both short- and long-term interest rates to rise. As inflation numbers started to surprise on the downside the outlook on rates from market participants changed significantly, causing interest rates to fall dramatically and expectations of up to six cuts from the Federal Reserve and ECB in 2024. The drop in interest rates in Q4 secured a high absolute return, while spread narrowing on bullets and high coupon callable bonds along with higher carry gave a significant excess return compared to the benchmark.

BLEND SUB-FUNDS

SPARINVEST SICAV - SECURUS	Approx. 25% equities, 75% bonds	6.87%	8.47%	-1.61%

*Sub-Fund performance is shown for the EUR R share class, net of fees and excluding swing

The two SPARINVEST SICAV BLEND Sub-Funds registered returns of between 6.37% and 10.31% net of fees and 6.92% and 12.00% gross of fees in 2023. The strategically balanced Sub-Funds are all created from building blocks carved out from Sparinvest managed strategies within equities, investment grade bonds, high-yield bonds, convertible bonds, emerging markets sovereign bonds, short - and long euro bonds.

Global central banks continued monetary tightening in 2023, leading to the strongest tightening cycle in the U.S. in about 40 years. Surging interest rates caused significant losses in long-term government bonds, with 30-year U.S. bonds losing 42% of their value by the beginning of 2023 and reaching a 52% loss by September. Report of the Investment Manager (continued)

The relative performance was primarily impacted by underperformance in equities, attributed to a general underweight in the actively managed pools of the AI theme, encompassing the seven largest companies in the equity benchmark. These seven companies significantly influenced the positive trajectory of the global stock market return in 2023. Additionally, allocation to Danish equities has had a negative impact despite an exceptionally strong relative performance in the Danish equity pool.

Outlook and guidance for 2024

The global economy is projected to achieve subdued growth in 2024. After many years of economic growth, the economies of the U.S. and Europe are in a late-cyclical phase of "full employment" and low unemployment. This will set a natural limit to economic growth. Secondly, the lagged effects of monetary tightening over the past few years are expected to curb the growth trajectory in 2024.

The economic development is expected to vary regionally.

In the U.S., the growth rate is estimated to slow towards the second half of the year, as the savings surplus in the household sector accumulated during the COVID-19 Pandemic will gradually be exhausted, and the impetus from fiscal policy will become less favourable in 2024 compared to 2023. Still, the U.S. economy is not expected to fall into recession.

The eurozone is expected to maintain low growth levels in 2024. However, private consumption growth is expected to pick up slightly in the second half of the year, but this is counteracted by a slowdown in investment activity.

In China, the economy is expected to enter a slowdown phase as the weak housing market will dampen investment activity and is furthermore estimated to have a negative impact on private consumption growth.

The inflation development is estimated to be different in 2024 than in the previous year. However, inflation is expected to be moderately reduced in the coming year. The impact of falling energy and food prices is not expected to cause the same downward pressure on inflation as in 2023. Secondly, some wage inflation will continue to prevail, which is expected to counteract further sharp falls in inflation.

In Europe and the U.S., central banks are expected to change their monetary policy during 2024 from a tightening cycle to an easing cycle. The U.S. Federal Reserve has indicated that a three-quarter point reduction in the key policy rate by the end of 2024 may be considered if warranted by economic indicators. The challenge is that the pace and size of the reduction is somewhat more moderate than market expectations in early 2024. This situation can cause disappointment in the market.

Based on the U.S. central bank's own estimates of the key policy rate and inflation paths for 2024, no significant reduction of the key policy rate in real terms is envisaged over the next 12 months. Monetary policy is therefore not considered to be much less restrictive than in 2023.

Bond markets already priced in more than the expected cuts of key policy rates by central banks in Q4 2023. If inflation does not moderate or even rise slightly, negative market reactions are to be expected in bond markets during periods of H1 2024. Overall, however, a moderate, positive return on bonds is expected because of the current interest earned. The development for the coming year is expected to be characterised by larger fluctuations in interest rates without any clear direction.

For corporate bonds, the same conditions apply as for government and mortgage bonds. By contrast, credit spreads in the corporate bond market tightened in 2023, and disappointments in earnings growth or an increasing number of defaults could dampen performance in that asset class.

With a global economy in a late-cyclical phase, the prospects for high earnings growth in listed companies are found to be as difficult. At the beginning of the year, earnings growth per share in the global market is expected to be around 9% for 2024, but with a moderately growing global economy, this could be difficult to achieve. As equity markets performed prematurely in 2023, they may disappoint, especially in the first half of 2024.

In addition to economic conditions, 2024 may see political conditions that may create uncertainty in financial markets. The war in Ukraine and tensions between the West and China could escalate, just as the presidential election in an increasingly divided U.S. could affect financial markets in 2024.

Based on these expectations, which are subject to considerable uncertainty, the Fund Management expects that returns will be moderate. For the equity Sub-Funds, returns are expected to fluctuate strongly over the next year, and negative returns for 2024 cannot be ruled out.

Yours sincerely,
18th January 2024

Independent auditor's report

To the Shareholders of

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Sparinvest SICAV (the “Fund”) and of each of its sub-funds, which comprise the statement of net assets and the statement of investments and other net assets as at 31 December 2023 and the statement of operations and other changes in net assets for the year then ended, and the notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Fund and of each of its sub-funds as at 31 December 2023, and of the results of their operations and changes in their net assets for the year then ended in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with EU Regulation N° 537/2014, the Law of 23 July 2016 on the audit profession (the “Law of 23 July 2016”) and with International Standards on Auditing (“ISAs”) as adopted for Luxembourg by the “Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier” (“CSSF”). Our responsibilities under the EU Regulation N° 537/2014, the Law of 23 July 2016 and ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF are further described in the “Responsibilities of the “réviseur d’entreprises agréé” for the audit of the financial statements” section of our report. We are also independent of the Fund in accordance with the International Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants, including International Independence Standards, issued by the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants (“IESBA Code”) as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements, and have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities under those ethical requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. We have determined that there are no key audit matters to communicate in our report.

Other information

The Board of Directors of the Fund is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report but does not include the financial statements and our report of the “réviseur d’entreprises agréé” thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements, or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report this fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of the Board of Directors of the Fund for the financial statements

The Board of Directors of the Fund is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements, and for such internal control as the Board of Directors of the Fund determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Board of Directors of the Fund is responsible for assessing the Fund's and each of its sub-funds' ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors either intends to liquidate the Fund or any of its sub-funds or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Responsibilities of the “réviseur d'entreprises agréé” for the audit of the financial statements

The objectives of our audit are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue a report of the “réviseur d'entreprises agréé” that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with EU Regulation N° 537/2014, the Law of 23 July 2016 and with the ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with EU Regulation N° 537/2014, the Law of 23 July 2016 and with ISAs as adopted for Luxembourg by the CSSF, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Fund's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Board of Directors of the Fund.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Board of Directors of the Fund's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Fund's or any of its sub-funds' ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our report of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé" to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our report of the "réviseur d'entreprises agréé". However, future events or conditions may cause the Fund or any of its sub-funds to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and communicate to them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, actions taken to eliminate threats or safeguards applied.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter.

Report on other legal and regulatory requirements

We have been appointed as "réviseur d'entreprises agréé" at the General Meeting of the Shareholders on 1 April 2022 and the duration of our uninterrupted engagement, including previous renewals and reappointments, is 2 years.

We confirm that the prohibited non-audit services referred to in EU Regulation No 537/2014 were not provided and that we remained independent of the Fund in conducting the audit.

We provided the following permitted services in addition to the statutory audit:

- Issuance of the Separate Report in the context of CSSF Circular 21/790.

Note 5 - Subscription tax (taxe d'abonnement)

The Company is governed by Luxembourg law.

Pursuant to the legislation and regulations in force, the Company is subject to an annual subscription tax (taxe d'abonnement) of 0.05%, except for those share classes, which may benefit from a lower rate of 0.01% as more fully described in Article 174 of the 2010 Law. The tax is payable quarterly and calculated on the basis of the net assets of each Sub-Fund on the last day of each quarter.

Pursuant to Article 175 (a) of the 2010 Law the net assets invested in undertakings for collective investment already subject to the taxe d'abonnement are exempt from this tax.

Note 6 - Pooling of assets

The assets of certain Sub-Funds are managed in common "pools". Shareholders are advised that such pools are used solely for facilitating the internal management process. These pools do not constitute separate entities and can therefore not directly be accessed by shareholders. Assets and profits and losses of each pool are allocated on a prorata basis to the participating Sub-Funds. The assets attributable to each participating Sub-Fund have been initially determined by reference to its initial allocation of assets to such a pool and will change in the event of additional allocations or withdrawals from the participating Sub-Funds. The entitlements of each participating Sub-Fund to the pool apply to each and every investment position of such pool. Additional investments made on behalf of the pooled Sub-Funds shall be allotted to such Sub-Funds in accordance with their respective entitlements according to above-mentioned definition, whereas assets sold shall be levied similarly on the assets attributable to each participating Sub-Fund.

Note 7 - Swing Pricing

Investments in the Sub-Funds are intended for long-term purposes only. The Company takes reasonable steps to seek to prevent short-term trading. Excessive short-term trading into and out of a Sub-Fund can disrupt portfolio investment strategies and may increase expenses, and adversely affect investment returns, for all shareholders, including long-term shareholders.

A Sub-Fund may indeed suffer a reduction in value as a result of the costs incurred in the dealings in the Sub-Funds' investments (caused by subscriptions, redemptions and/or conversions in and out of the Sub-Funds).

In order to mitigate against the above-described excessive trading and dilution, and consequent potential adverse effect on remaining shareholders, the Board of Directors of the Company may apply

Notes to the financial statements (continued)

as at 31st December 2023

"swing pricing", i.e. adjust upwards or downwards the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Funds in the manner described below.

If on any Valuation Date the aggregate transactions in shares of all Classes of a Sub-Fund result in a net increase or decrease of shares which exceeds a threshold set by the Board of Directors of the Company from time to time for that Sub-Fund (relating to the cost of market dealing for that Sub-Fund), the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund is adjusted by an amount (not exceeding 2.5% of that Net Asset Value) which reflects in particular but not exclusively the estimated fiscal charges and dealing costs that may be incurred by the Sub-Fund and the estimated bid/offer spread of the assets in which the Sub-Fund invests. The adjustment is an addition when the net movement results in an increase of all shares of the Company and a deduction when it results in a decrease.

The Net Asset Value per share as disclosed in the statistical information and in the statement of net assets is the published Net Asset Value per share (swing adjustment included, if any), whereas the total net assets disclosed in the statement of net assets is the total net assets excluding any year-end swing adjustment.

A "full swing" on subscriptions and redemptions for all Sub-Funds was applied during the reporting period. This means, that the price is swung on every dealing date on a net deal basis regardless of the size of the net capital activity, except when there is no net flow in a Sub-Fund, in which case the Net Asset Value is not swung.

Note 8 - Other expenses

The remuneration of the Board of Directors of SPARINVEST SICAV amounts to EUR 148,000 and is disclosed under the item "Other expenses" in the statement of operations and other changes in net assets.

Note 9 - Forward foreign exchange contracts

The Management Company continues to monitor the situation closely with respect to the implications for the SPARINVEST SICAV.

Sustainable investment means an investment in an economic activity that contributes to an environmental or social objective, provided that the investment does not significantly harm any environmental or social objective and that the investee companies follow good governance practices.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund reached its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were above the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) was lower than the benchmark. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

Reported data from issuers and information from external parties such as from authorities, media and interest organizations were also used. Due diligence was performed on all data sources.

The Sub-Fund had a preference for reported data from issuers, but as this was only available to a limited extent, estimated data was also used.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personnel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 98.84%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

● What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund primarily invests in listed equities, typically with a minor cash position. Note that the Sub-Fund can take lesser exposure to other classes. For the investments in listed equities, all are subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 84.89%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 49.60%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 30.23%

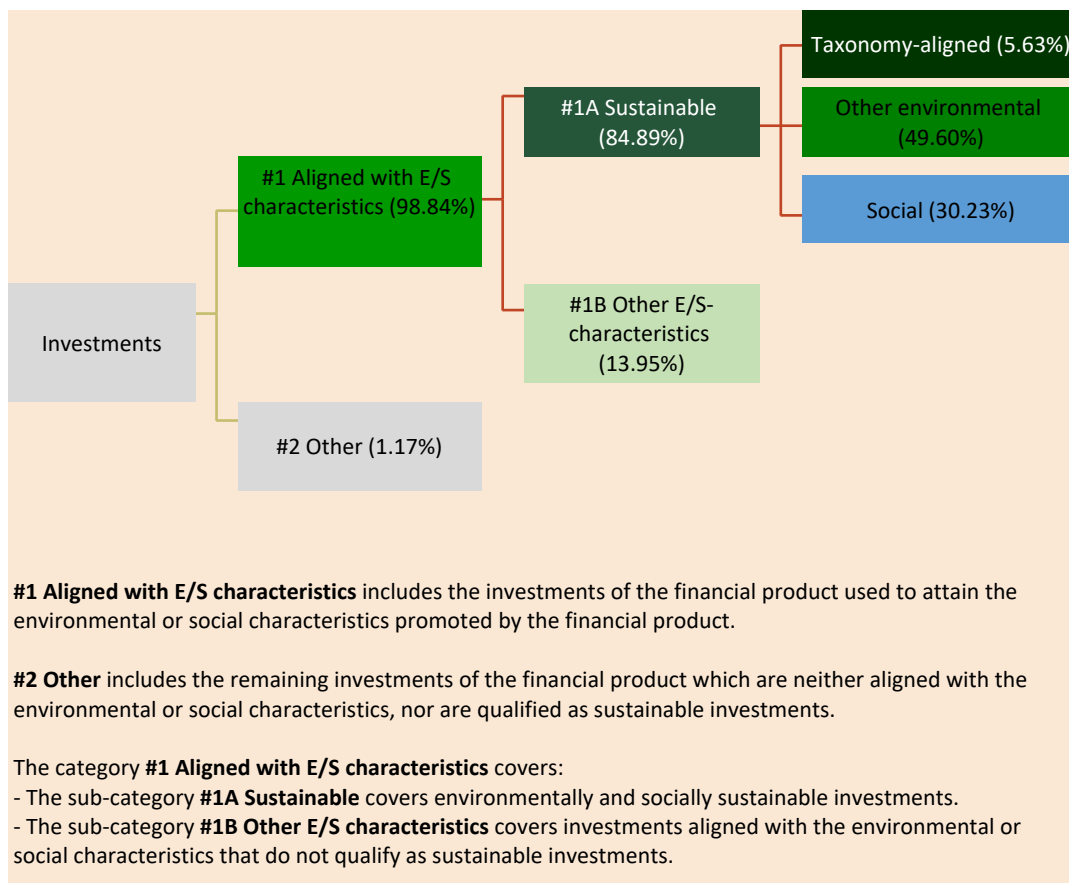

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	98.84%
#1A Sustainable	84.89%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	13.95%
Taxonomy-aligned	5.63%
Other environmental	49.60%
Social	30.23%
#2 Other	1.17%

Asset allocation describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund reached its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were above the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. In the current year, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards." For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 98.05%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

● What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund primarily invests in listed equities, typically with a minor cash position. Note that the Sub-Fund can take lesser exposure to other classes. For the investments in listed equities, all are subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 93.60%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 50.25%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 38.00%

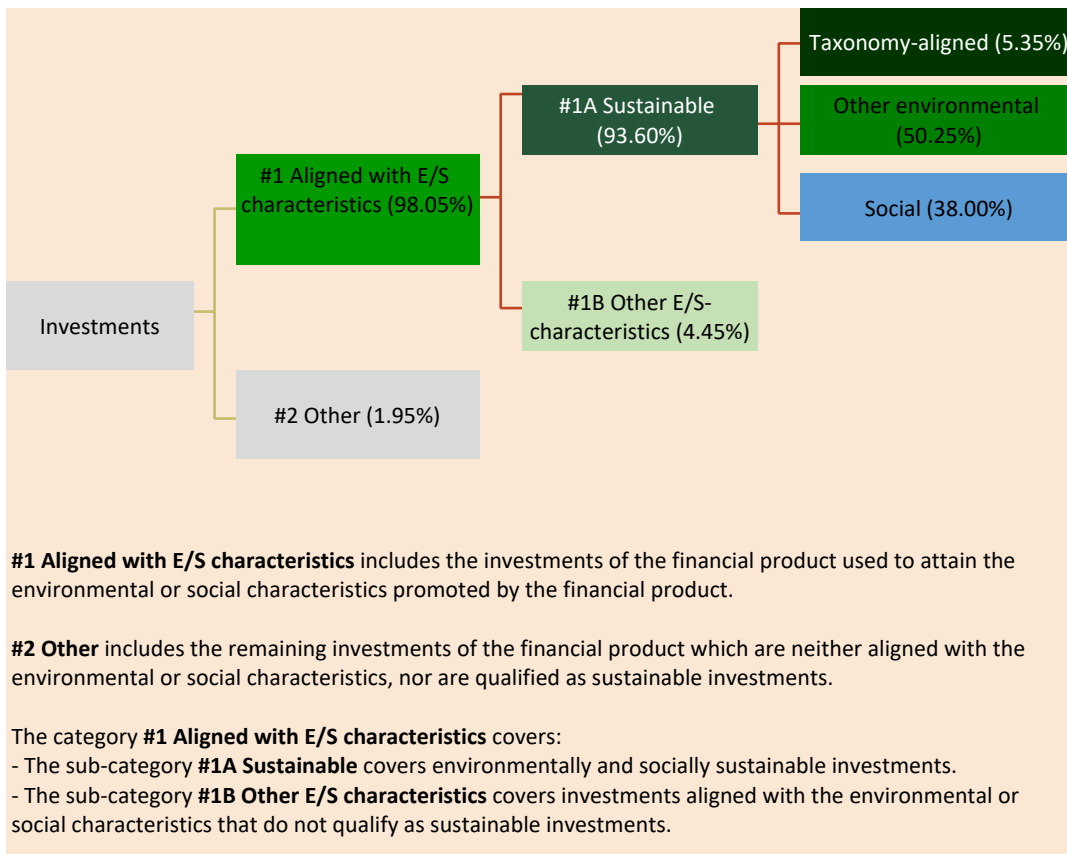

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	98.05%
#1A Sustainable	93.60%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	4.45%
Taxonomy-aligned	5.35%
Other environmental	50.25%
Social	38.00%
#2 Other	1.95%

Asset allocation describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

Reference benchmarks are indexes to measure whether the financial product attains the sustainable investment objective.

Template periodic disclosure for the financial products referred to in Article 8, paragraphs 1, 2 and 2a, of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 and Article 6, first paragraph, of Regulation (EU) 2020/852

Sustainable investment means an investment in an economic activity that contributes to an environmental or social objective, provided that the investment does not significantly harm any environmental or social objective and that the investee companies follow good governance practices.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund reached its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were above the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) was higher than the benchmark. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

The Sub-Fund had a preference for reported data from issuers, but as this was only available to a limited extent, estimated data was also used.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaption, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personnel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 97.87%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund primarily invests in listed equities, typically with a minor cash position. Note that the Sub-Fund can take lesser exposure to other classes. For the investments in listed equities, all are subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 84.40%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 45.37%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 35.76%

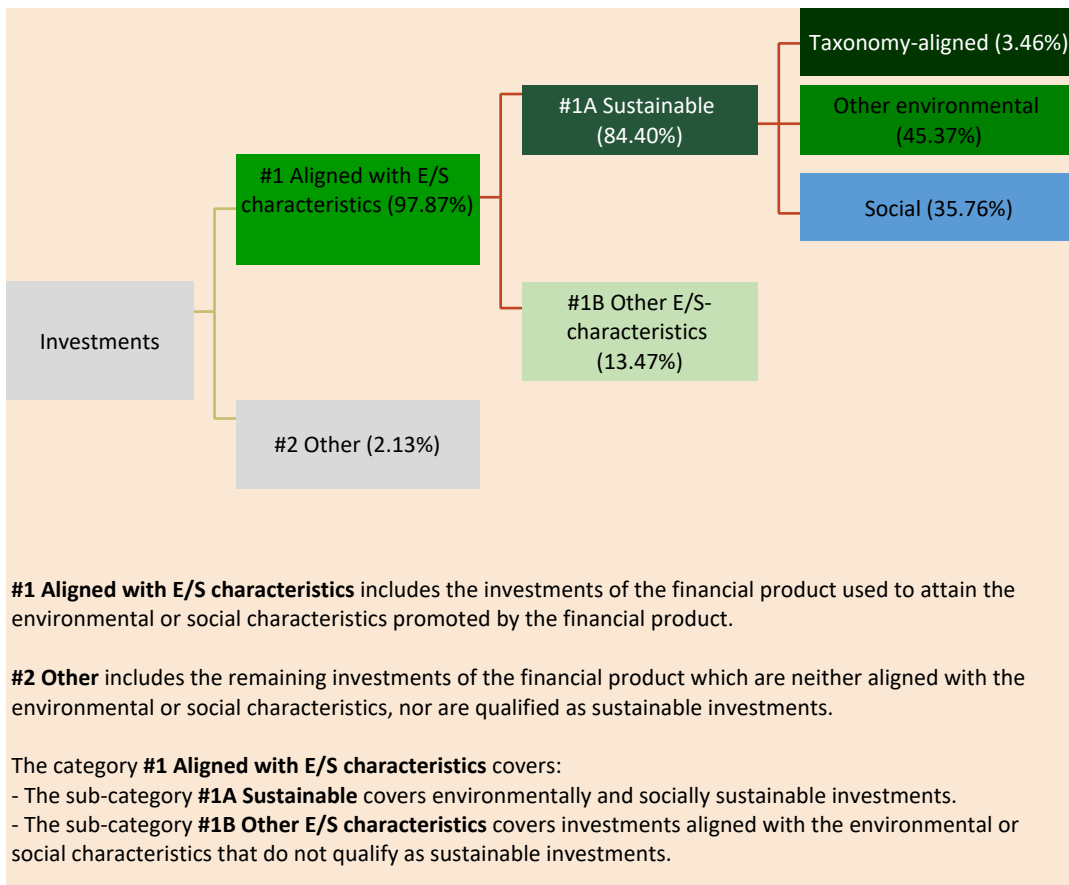

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	97.87%
#1A Sustainable	84.40%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	13.47%
Taxonomy-aligned	3.46%
Other environmental	45.37%
Social	35.76%
#2 Other	2.13%

Asset allocation describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

● Did the financial product invest in fossil gas and/or nuclear energy related activities complying with the EU Taxonomy?

- Yes: In fossil gas In nuclear energy
- X No

The graphs below show in green the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy. As there is no appropriate methodology to determine the taxonomy-alignment of sovereign bonds, the first graph shows the Taxonomy alignment in relation to all the investments of the financial product including sovereign bonds, while the second graph shows the Taxonomy alignment only in relation to the investments of the financial product other than sovereign bonds.*

*For the purpose of these graphs, 'sovereign bonds' consist of all sovereign exposures

● What was the share of investments made in transitional and enabling activities?

What investments were included under "other", what was their purpose and were there any minimum environmental or social safeguards?

The investments included under 'Other' consisted of cash holdings. The cash holdings were used for liquidity purposes. There were no minimum environmental or social safeguards.

What actions have been taken to meet the environmental and/or social characteristics during the reference period?

The Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This happened through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's sustainability characteristics were met. The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all investments and assessed whether issuers were in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights. The Sub-Fund engaged with the following companies due to breaches of international norms :

- Shell PLC

The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to. The list of transition laggards with high climate risks was extended to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. However, a few issuers were exempt, as they had simultaneously had taken significant transition actions. The Sub-Fund exercised its voting rights. The Sub-Fund participated in 55 out of 55 general meetings. This resulted in a turnout of 100.00%. The board was voted against in 12.84% of meetings in which the trustee attended. The ambition is to attend all general meetings. At the same time, the sharing of information about these activities has increased, so that investors can follow the Sub-Fund's voting activities on the Sub-Fund's website.

We have reported on a number of sustainability indicators. The sustainability indicators were not subject to auditing. Data sources from a number of third parties were used to measure the environmental and social indicators. MSCI ESG Research was the primary supplier of ESG data and analysis. In addition, research from Sustainalytics and ISS was included particularly in connection with voting activity. Reported data from issuers and information from external parties such as from authorities, media and interest organizations were also used. Due diligence was performed on all data sources.

The Sub-Fund had a preference for reported data from issuers, but as this was only available to a limited extent, estimated data was also used.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 98.41%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

● What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund primarily invests in listed equities, typically with a minor cash position. Note that the Sub-Fund can take lesser exposure to other classes. For the investments in listed equities, all are subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 84.32%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 44.43%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 35.46%

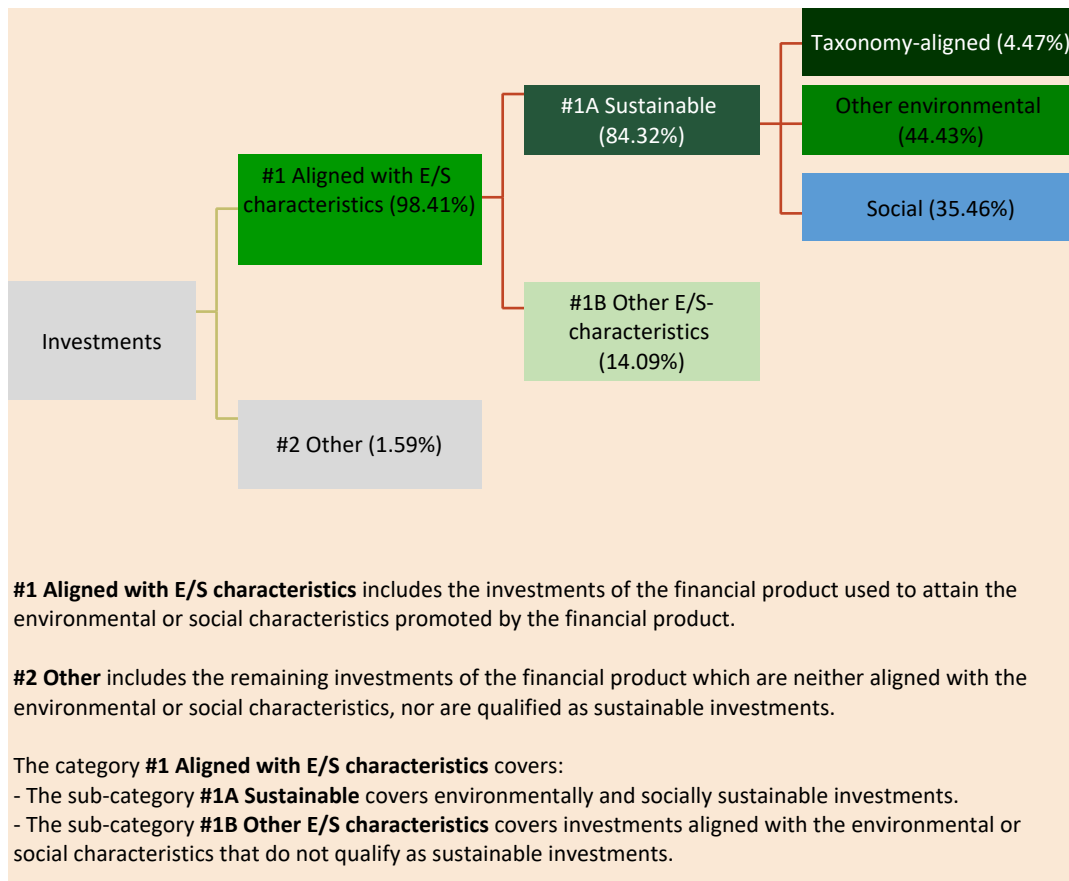

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	98.41%
#1A Sustainable	84.32%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	14.09%
Taxonomy-aligned	4.47%
Other environmental	44.43%
Social	35.46%
#2 Other	1.59%

Asset allocation describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

Taxonomy-aligned activities are expressed as a share of:

- turnover reflecting the share of revenue from green activities of investee companies.
- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

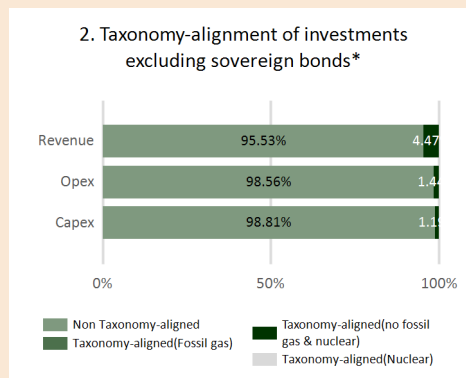

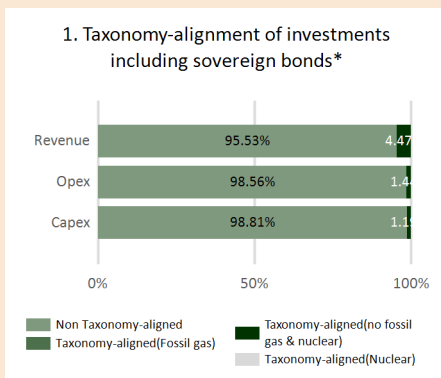

To what extent were the sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 4.47%. The taxonomy alignment numbers has not been audited.

● Did the financial product invest in fossil gas and/or nuclear energy related activities complying with the EU Taxonomy?

- Yes: In fossil gas In nuclear energy
- X No

The graphs below show in green the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy. As there is no appropriate methodology to determine the taxonomy-alignment of sovereign bonds, the first graph shows the Taxonomy alignment in relation to all the investments of the financial product including sovereign bonds, while the second graph shows the Taxonomy alignment only in relation to the investments of the financial product other than sovereign bonds.*

*For the purpose of these graphs, 'sovereign bonds' consist of all sovereign exposures

● What was the share of investments made in transitional and enabling activities?

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

● How did the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy compare with previous reference periods?

The fund had the following historical taxonomy alignment:

- 2023: 4.47%
- 2022: 3.58%

are sustainable investments with an environmental objective that do not take into account the criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities under the EU Taxonomy.

What was the share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 44.43%

What was the share of socially sustainable investments?

The Sub-Fund's share of socially sustainable investments was 35.46%

What investments were included under "other", what was their purpose and were there any minimum environmental or social safeguards?

The investments included under 'Other' consisted of cash holdings. The cash holdings were used for liquidity purposes. There were no minimum environmental or social safeguards.

What actions have been taken to meet the environmental and/or social characteristics during the reference period?

The Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This happened through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's sustainability characteristics were partially met. The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all investments and assessed whether issuers were in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights. The Sub-Fund engaged with the following companies due to breaches of international norms :

- Shell PLC
- Wells Fargo & Co

The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to. The list of transition laggards with high climate risks was extended to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. However, a few issuers were exempt, as they had simultaneously had taken significant transition actions. The Sub-Fund exercised its voting rights. The Sub-Fund participated in 90 out of 90 general meetings. This resulted in a turnout of 100.00%. The board was voted against in 23.66% of meetings in which the trustee attended. The ambition is to attend all general meetings. At the same time, the sharing of information about these activities has increased, so that investors can follow the Sub-Fund's voting activities on the Sub-Fund's website.

Template periodic disclosure for the financial products referred to in Article 8, paragraphs 1, 2 and 2a, of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 and Article 6, first paragraph, of Regulation (EU) 2020/852

Sustainable investment means an investment in an economic activity that contributes to an environmental or social objective, provided that the investment does not significantly harm any environmental or social objective and that the investee companies follow good governance practices.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund reached its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were above the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) was lower than the benchmark. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaption, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 98.73%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund invested primarily in listed bonds, while deliberately maintaining a small cash reserve to increase flexibility. Likewise, the Sub-Fund had the option of holding smaller positions in other financial instruments, these were also limited. The Sub-Fund's investments are all subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 68.32%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 35.90%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 28.05%

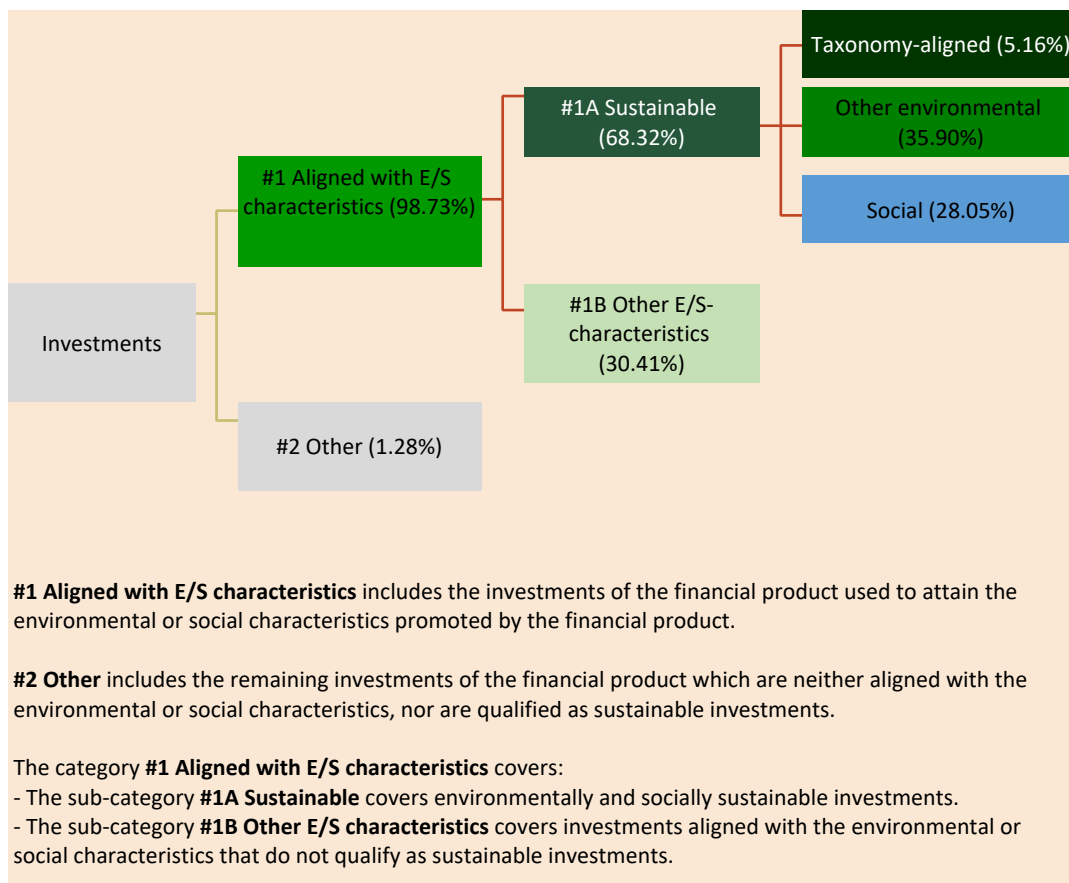

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	98.73%
#1A Sustainable	68.32%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	30.41%
Taxonomy-aligned	5.16%
Other environmental	35.90%
Social	28.05%
#2 Other	1.28%

Asset allocation describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

- turnover reflecting the share of revenue from green activities of investee companies.
- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

The graphs below show in green the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy. As there is no appropriate methodology to determine the taxonomy-alignment of sovereign bonds, the first graph shows the Taxonomy alignment in relation to all the investments of the financial product including sovereign bonds, while the second graph shows the Taxonomy alignment only in relation to the investments of the financial product other than sovereign bonds.*

*For the purpose of these graphs, 'sovereign bonds' consist of all sovereign exposures

● What was the share of investments made in transitional and enabling activities?

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

● How did the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy compare with previous reference periods?

What actions have been taken to meet the environmental and/or social characteristics during the reference period?

The Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's sustainability characteristics were met. The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all investments and assessed whether issuers were in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights. The Sub-Fund engaged with the following companies due to breaches of international norms :

- Tencent Holdings Ltd

The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to. The list of transition laggards with high climate risks was extended to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. However, a few issuers were exempt, as they had simultaneously had taken significant transition actions.

How did this financial product perform compared to the reference benchmark?

Template periodic disclosure for the financial products referred to in Article 8, paragraphs 1, 2 and 2a, of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 and Article 6, first paragraph, of Regulation (EU) 2020/852

Sustainable investment means an investment in an economic activity that contributes to an environmental or social objective, provided that the investment does not significantly harm any environmental or social objective and that the investee companies follow good governance practices.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund reached its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were above the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals could not be compared to a benchmark because there was no data for the benchmark's performance. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) could not be compared to a benchmark because there was no data for the benchmark's performance. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) could not be compared to a benchmark because there was no data for the benchmark's performance. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

Reported data from issuers and information from external parties such as from authorities, media and interest organizations were also used. Due diligence was performed on all data sources.

The Sub-Fund had a preference for reported data from issuers, but as this was only available to a limited extent, estimated data was also used.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 99.24%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund invested primarily in listed bonds, while deliberately maintaining a small cash reserve to increase flexibility. Likewise, the Sub-Fund had the option of holding smaller positions in other financial instruments, these were also limited. The Sub-Fund's investments are all subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 70.02%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 0.00%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 58.45%

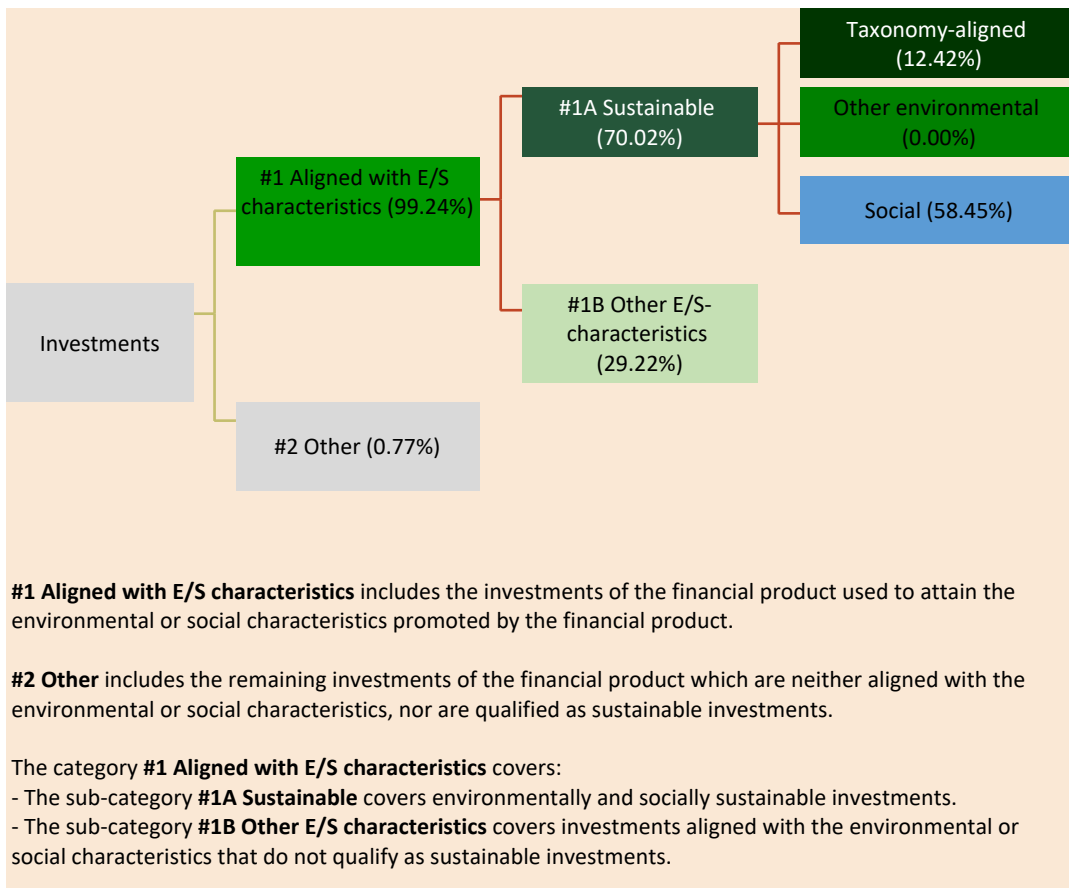

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	99.24%
#1A Sustainable	70.02%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	29.22%
Taxonomy-aligned	12.42%
Other environmental	0.00%
Social	58.45%
#2 Other	0.77%

Asset allocation describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

In which economic sectors were the investments made?

Date	Section	Division	Weight
2023-12-31	FINANCIAL AND INSURANCE ACTIVITIES	Financial service activities, except insurance and pension funding	74.73%
2023-12-31	PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION AND DEFENCE	Public administration and defence	24.50%

2022-12-31	PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION AND DEFENCE	Public administration and defence	24.73%

Taxonomy-aligned activities are expressed as a share of:

- turnover reflecting the share of revenue from green activities of investee companies.
- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

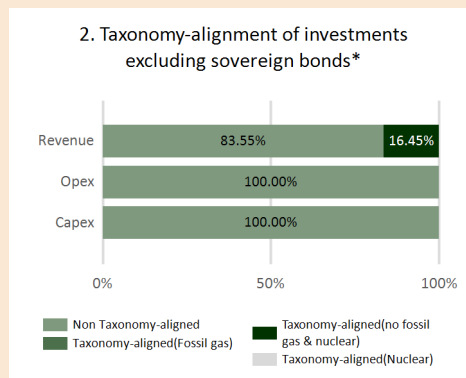

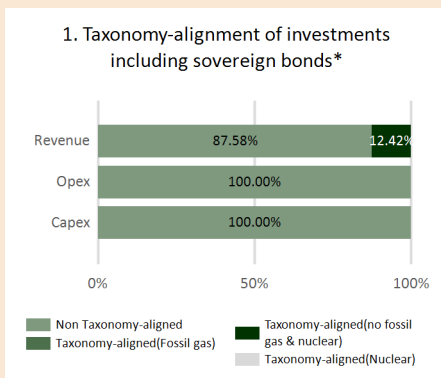

To what extent were the sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 12.42%. The taxonomy alignment numbers has not been audited.

● Did the financial product invest in fossil gas and/or nuclear energy related activities complying with the EU Taxonomy?

- Yes: In fossil gas In nuclear energy
- X No

The graphs below show in green the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy. As there is no appropriate methodology to determine the taxonomy-alignment of sovereign bonds, the first graph shows the Taxonomy alignment in relation to all the investments of the financial product including sovereign bonds, while the second graph shows the Taxonomy alignment only in relation to the investments of the financial product other than sovereign bonds.*

*For the purpose of these graphs, 'sovereign bonds' consist of all sovereign exposures

● What was the share of investments made in transitional and enabling activities?

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

● How did the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy compare with previous reference periods?

The fund had the following historical taxonomy alignment:

- 2023: 12.42%
- 2022: 8.49%

are sustainable investments with an environmental objective that do not take into account the criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities under the EU Taxonomy.

What was the share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 0.00%

What was the share of socially sustainable investments?

The Sub-Fund's share of socially sustainable investments was 58.45%

What investments were included under "other", what was their purpose and were there any minimum environmental or social safeguards?

The investments included under 'Other' consisted of cash holdings. The cash holdings were used for liquidity purposes. There were no minimum environmental or social safeguards.

What actions have been taken to meet the environmental and/or social characteristics during the reference period?

The Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. Issuers of securities in which the Sub-Fund invested were screened every quarter for violations of international norms for violations of either the UN Global Compact, the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, ILO Conventions and the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises. We are in ongoing dialogue with the individual issuers about their ESG focus, both in terms of borrower incentives to reduce emissions from the financed homes and data quality and deliveries of the aggregated climate data. In 2023, the meetings with the issuers in particular have been about their concrete objectives for reducing the financed climate footprint. This is important to ensure that across the investments we reach our own objectives for the investments. The Sub-Fund has shared these insights with both issuers and investors at several conferences during the year.

How did this financial product perform compared to the reference benchmark?

Reference benchmarks are indexes to measure whether the financial product attains the sustainable investment objective.

How does the reference benchmark differ from a broad market index?

This was not relevant as the Sub-Fund did not have an ESG reference benchmark.

How did this financial product perform with regard to the sustainability indicators to determine the alignment of the reference benchmark with the environmental or social characteristics promoted?

This was not relevant as the Sub-Fund did not have an ESG reference benchmark.

How did this financial product perform compared with the reference benchmark?

Template periodic disclosure for the financial products referred to in Article 8, paragraphs 1, 2 and 2a, of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 and Article 6, first paragraph, of Regulation (EU) 2020/852

Sustainable investment means an investment in an economic activity that contributes to an environmental or social objective, provided that the investment does not significantly harm any environmental or social objective and that the investee companies follow good governance practices.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund reached its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were above the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) was higher than the benchmark. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

Data sources from a number of third parties were used to measure the environmental and social indicators. MSCI ESG Research was the primary supplier of ESG data and analysis. In addition, research from Sustainalytics and ISS was included particularly in connection with voting activity. Reported data from issuers and information from external parties such as from authorities, media and interest organizations were also used. Due diligence was performed on all data sources.

The Sub-Fund had a preference for reported data from issuers, but as this was only available to a limited extent, estimated data was also used.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics includes the investments of the financial product used to attain the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product.

#2 Other includes the remaining investments of the financial product which are neither aligned with the environmental or social characteristics, nor are qualified as sustainable investments.

The category #1 Aligned with E/S characteristics covers:

- The sub-category #1A Sustainable covers environmentally and socially sustainable investments.
- The sub-category #1B Other E/S characteristics covers investments aligned with the environmental or social characteristics that do not qualify as sustainable investments.

- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

Sustainable investment means an investment in an economic activity that contributes to an environmental or social objective, provided that the investment does not significantly harm any environmental or social objective and that the investee companies follow good governance practices.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund reached its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were above the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) was higher than the benchmark. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

Data sources from a number of third parties were used to measure the environmental and social indicators. MSCI ESG Research was the primary supplier of ESG data and analysis. In addition, research from Sustainalytics and ISS was included particularly in connection with voting activity. Reported data from issuers and information from external parties such as from authorities, media and interest organizations were also used. Due diligence was performed on all data sources.

The Sub-Fund had a preference for reported data from issuers, but as this was only available to a limited extent, estimated data was also used.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 98.40%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

What was the asset allocation?

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	98.40%
#1A Sustainable	67.10%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	31.29%
Taxonomy-aligned	8.82%
Other environmental	15.60%
Social	43.51%
#2 Other	1.61%

Asset allocation

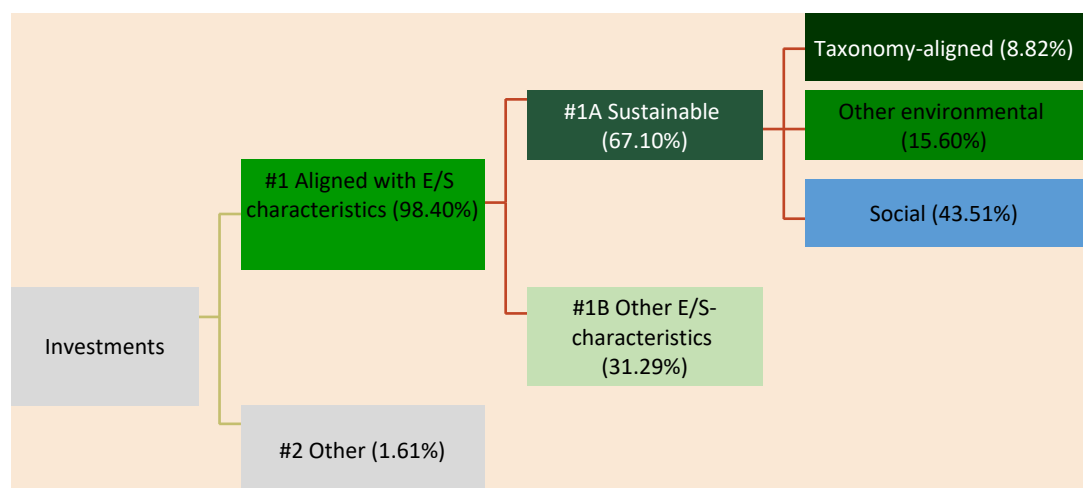

describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities

directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities

are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics includes the investments of the financial product used to attain the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product.

#2 Other includes the remaining investments of the financial product which are neither aligned with the environmental or social characteristics, nor are qualified as sustainable investments.

The category #1 Aligned with E/S characteristics covers:

- The sub-category #1A Sustainable covers environmentally and socially sustainable investments.
- The sub-category #1B Other E/S characteristics covers investments aligned with the environmental or social characteristics that do not qualify as sustainable investments.

- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

What actions have been taken to meet the environmental and/or social characteristics during the reference period?

The Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This happened through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's sustainability characteristics were partially met. The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all investments and assessed whether issuers were in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights. The Sub-Fund engaged with the following companies due to breaches of international norms :

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund did not reach its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were below the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) was lower than the benchmark. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDGs it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personnel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 96.38%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund invested primarily in listed bonds, while deliberately maintaining a small cash reserve to increase flexibility. Likewise, the Sub-Fund had the option of holding smaller positions in other financial instruments, these were also limited. The Sub-Fund's investments are all subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 32.47%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 14.17%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 15.92%

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" og "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" og "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent

#1A Sustainable	32.47%

Asset allocation

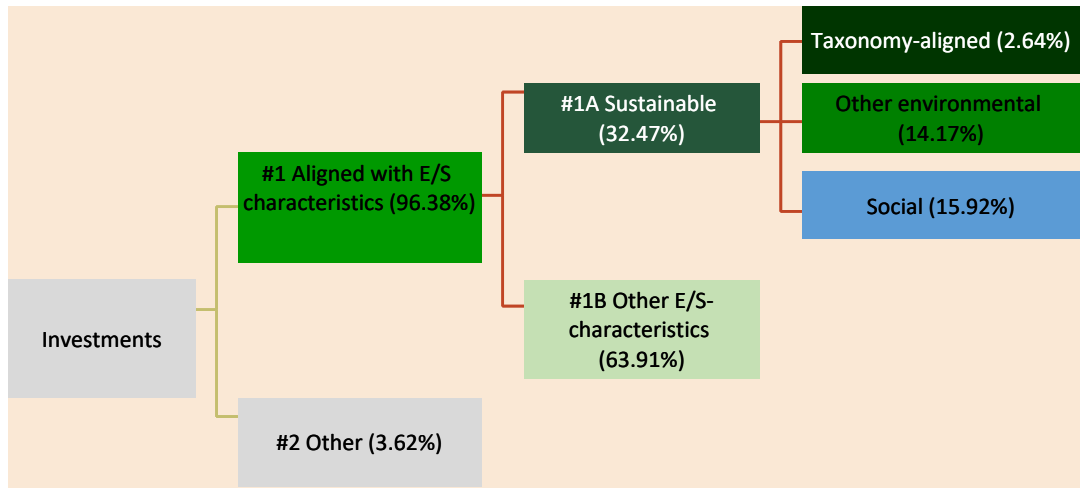

describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities

directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities

are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics includes the investments of the financial product used to attain the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product.

#2 Other includes the remaining investments of the financial product which are neither aligned with the environmental or social characteristics, nor are qualified as sustainable investments.

The category #1 Aligned with E/S characteristics covers:

- The sub-category #1A Sustainable covers environmentally and socially sustainable investments.
- The sub-category #1B Other E/S characteristics covers investments aligned with the environmental or social characteristics that do not qualify as sustainable investments.

To what extent were the environmental and/or social characteristics promoted by this financial product met?

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

The Sub-Fund's environmental and social characteristics were measured, among other things, through the underlying investments' carbon footprint and alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals. At the same time, through its stewardship, the Sub-Fund tried to influence the companies in a sustainable direction. Through the selection of companies that contributed positively to society's challenges and as part of the Sub-Fund's stewardship, the Sub-Fund sought to reach its minimum share for sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund did not reach its guaranteed proportion of sustainable investments. The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments and share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy were below the minimum proportion.

In addition, the Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's alignment with the UN Sustainable Development Goals was higher than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's weighted average carbon intensity (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro revenue) was lower than the benchmark. The Sub-Fund's carbon footprint (scope 1 and 2, ton CO₂e per. mil. euro invested) was lower than the benchmark. For the reporting period, there was particular focus on the exclusion of issuers that produced controversial weapons, were in systematic breach of international norms and principles, as well as issuers that were considered climate transition laggards. During 2023, the list of transition laggards with high climate risks was expanded to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. The Sub-Fund exercised stewardship. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to.

We have reported on a number of sustainability indicators. The sustainability indicators were not subject to auditing. Data sources from a number of third parties were used to measure the environmental and social indicators. MSCI ESG Research was the primary supplier of ESG data and analysis. Reported data from issuers and information from external parties such as from authorities, media and interest organizations were also used. Due diligence was performed on all data sources.

The Sub-Fund had a preference for reported data from issuers, but as this was only available to a limited extent, estimated data was also used.

● What were the objectives of the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made and how did the sustainable investment contribute to such objectives?

The sustainable investments contributed to the achievement of the UN Sustainable Development Goals, reduction of carbon emissions, to climate change mitigation and climate change adaptation, or the improvement of board diversity.

● How did the sustainable investments that the financial product partially made not cause significant harm to any environmental or social sustainable investment objective?

Sustainable investments were assessed against The Sub-Fund's DNSH-criteria, which excluded issuers with >5% revenue exposure towards fossil fuels, tobacco, alcohol, pornography, nuclear and weapons activities, as well as issuers that were strongly misaligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, from being assessed as 'sustainable investments'. The Do No Significant Harm and minimum-safeguards criteria were implemented through a list of issuers that did not meet the criteria. The list was used to check all sustainable investments to ensure that no issuer on the list was not classified as a sustainable investment. The DNSH-criteria used information on controversies, misalignment with the environmental UN Sustainable Development Goals involvement in fossil fuel activities as part of the DNSH compliance check. The minimum safeguards excluded all issuers from being assessed as 'sustainable investments' if they had been involved in persistent violation of international norms, production or distribution of alcohol, weapons, adult entertainment, tobacco or gambling.

— How were the indicators for adverse impacts on sustainability factors taken into account?

The Sub-Fund incorporated information regarding principal adverse impact on sustainability factors in the investment process. The negative impacts were considered in investment decisions as well as stewardship, where negative impacts were sought to be mitigated and where long-term value creation was secured. All of the mandatory Principal Adverse Impact indicators were taken into account on the sustainability factors to the extent that the data was available. The adverse impacts were identified in three different approaches. All investments were assessed against the UN Sustainable Development Goals. If an issuer had a strong negative impact on any of the SDG's it was identified as an adverse impact and the investment could not have a positive impact on sustainability. All investments with more than 5% revenue from fossil fuels, were also identified as having an adverse impact. This also applied to any investment in violation of the UN Global Compact principles or the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

— Were sustainable investments aligned with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights? Details:

The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all sustainable investments, and issuers assessed as being in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights were not assessed to be sustainable investments.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do no significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the Union criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

How did this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

The Sub-Fund considered the following principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors:

- GHG Emissions
- Carbon Footprint
- GHG Intensity of investee companies
- Violations of UN Global Compact Principles and Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- Board gender diversity
- Exposure to controversial weapons (anti-personel mines, cluster munitions, chemical weapons and biological weapons)

What was the proportion of sustainability-related investments?

The proportion of sustainability-related investments was 96.14%

Our method for calculating sustainable investments ensured that the principle regarding double counting with regards to the UN sustainable development goals was adhered to. This was done by dividing the different types of sustainable contribution into taxonomy-related sustainable investments, other environmentally sustainable investments or socially sustainable investments, based on where they had the greatest contribution.

What was the asset allocation?

The Sub-Fund invested primarily in listed bonds, while deliberately maintaining a small cash reserve to increase flexibility. Likewise, the Sub-Fund had the option of holding smaller positions in other financial instruments, these were also limited. The Sub-Fund's investments are all subject to the sustainability characteristics of the Sub-Fund.

The Sub-Fund's asset allocation was the following:

The percentage of sustainable investments was 34.93%

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 13.29%

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with a social objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 20.20%

The calculation of "Taxonomy-aligned" was calculated on activity level, while the calculation of "Other environmental", "Social" or "#1A Sustainable" was calculated using portfolio weights. The sum of "Other environmental", "Social" or "Taxonomy-aligned" was therefore not necessarily equal to "#1A Sustainable".

Asset Allocation	Percent
#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics	96.14%
#1A Sustainable	34.93%
#1B Other E/S-characteristics	61.21%
Taxonomy-aligned	1.67%
Other environmental	13.29%
Social	20.20%
#2 Other	3.86%

Asset allocation

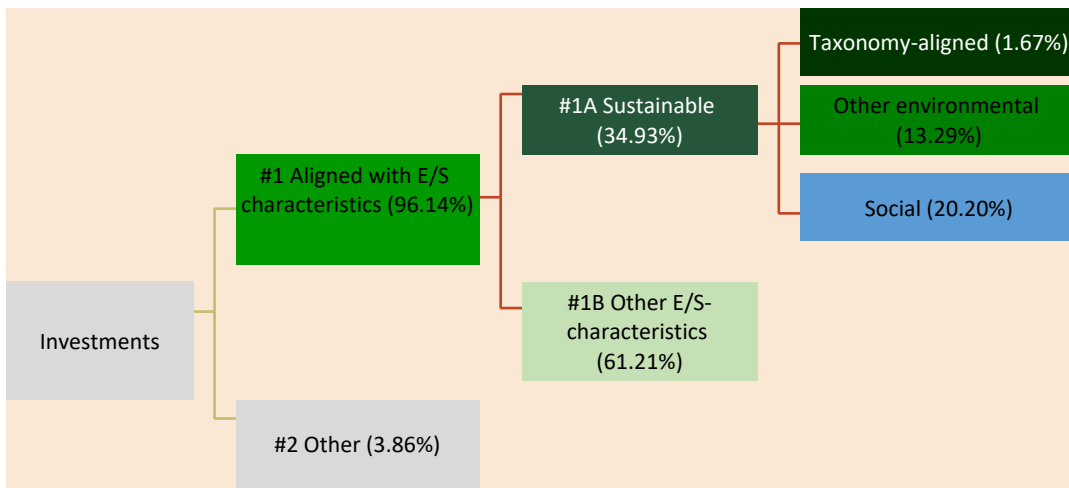

describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Enabling activities

directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities

are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

#1 Aligned with E/S characteristics includes the investments of the financial product used to attain the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product.

#2 Other includes the remaining investments of the financial product which are neither aligned with the environmental or social characteristics, nor are qualified as sustainable investments.

The category #1 Aligned with E/S characteristics covers:

- The sub-category #1A Sustainable covers environmentally and socially sustainable investments.
- The sub-category #1B Other E/S characteristics covers investments aligned with the environmental or social characteristics that do not qualify as sustainable investments.

Taxonomy-aligned activities are expressed as a share of:

- turnover reflecting the share of revenue from green activities of investee companies.
- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

To what extent were the sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 1.67%. The taxonomy alignment numbers has not been audited.

● Did the financial product invest in fossil gas and/or nuclear energy related activities complying with the EU Taxonomy?

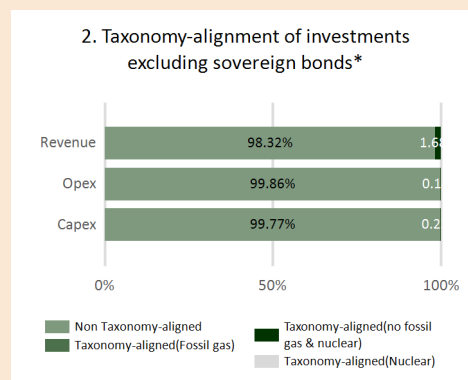

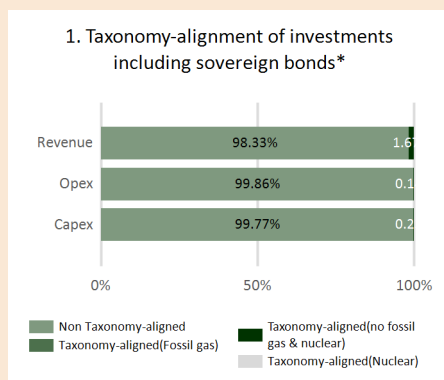

Yes:

 In fossil gas

 In nuclear energy

 No

The graphs below show in green the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy. As there is no appropriate methodology to determine the taxonomy-alignment of sovereign bonds, the first graph shows the Taxonomy alignment in relation to all the investments of the financial product including sovereign bonds, while the second graph shows the Taxonomy alignment only in relation to the investments of the financial product other than sovereign bonds.*

*For the purpose of these graphs, 'sovereign bonds' consist of all sovereign exposures

● What was the share of investments made in transitional and enabling activities?

Data has not been available for transitional and enabling activities and therefore we have no data to report on.

● How did the percentage of investments that were aligned with the EU Taxonomy compare with previous reference periods?

The fund had the following historical taxonomy alignment:

- 2023: 1.67%
- 2022: 2.03%

are sustainable investments with an environmental objective that do not take into account the criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities under the EU Taxonomy.

What was the share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The Sub-Fund's share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective not aligned with the EU Taxonomy was 13.29%

What was the share of socially sustainable investments?

The Sub-Fund's share of socially sustainable investments was 20.20%

What investments were included under "other", what was their purpose and were there any minimum environmental or social safeguards?

The investments included under 'Other' consisted of cash holdings. The cash holdings were used for liquidity purposes. There were no minimum environmental or social safeguards.

What actions have been taken to meet the environmental and/or social characteristics during the reference period?

The Sub-Fund promoted social and environmental characteristics through the inclusion of sustainability considerations in the various parts of the investment process. This was done through exclusion, selection of investments and stewardship. The Sub-Fund's sustainability characteristics were met. The Sub-Fund conducted screenings of all investments and assessed whether issuers were in violation of OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, including the principles and rights set out in the eight fundamental conventions identified in the Declaration of the International Labour Organisation on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work and the International Bill of Human Rights. The exclusion criteria were implemented and adhered to. The list of transition laggards with high climate risks was extended to also include companies that expanded their production in violation of the International Energy Agency's Net Zero Emissions 2050 scenario. However, a few issuers were exempt, as they had simultaneously had taken significant transition actions.

How did this financial product perform compared to the reference benchmark?
